

The diagram consists of four horizontal rows of small squares. The top row contains 20 squares. The second row contains 20 squares, with the 14th square missing. The third row contains 20 squares. The bottom row contains 9 squares, starting from the left and ending at the 9th column position.

[illegible][illegible][illegible]

The diagram consists of three rows of squares. The top row contains 20 squares. The middle row contains 20 squares, with the first square aligned with the first square of the top row, and the remaining 19 squares shifted to the right. The bottom row contains 3 squares, with the first square aligned with the first square of the top row, and the other two squares shifted to the right.

